First '48 Victim In City

John A. Doehla Dies In Hospital

Mansfield today recorded its first traffic fatality for 1948 as John A. Doehla, 89, of 558 McPherson street, died at 3 a. m. in General hospital.

Mr. Doehla was struck by an auto driven by Raymond Bush, 416 St. Clair street, shortly after noon yesterday. The accident occurred on Harker street, 60 feet west of the intersection with Johns avenue.

Bush told police the aged man stepped from the curb into the path of his auto. He said he came almost to a stop before striking the victim, knocking him to the pavement.

Hospital attendants said at first he appeared to be suffering only from shock.

FIFTH COUNTY VICTIM

Mr. Doehla was the fifth traffic fatality in Richland county so far this year. There were seven fatalities at this time last year.

Born Sept. 28, 1858, in Germany, Mr. Doehla came to Mansfield 63 years ago. He was a member of St. John's Evangelical church.

Surviving are a son, Henry, 506 Louise avenue; one daughter, Mrs. Harry Loesch, 114 Dawson avenue; four grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted Monday at 3 p. m. at the Wappner funeral home by Rev. John C. Melchert, pastor of St. John's Evangelical church. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

Ban Fought By Wallace

Plans Legal Battle In Ohio

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Henry Wallace supporters settled down today to a legal battle to get their favorite's name on the Ohio ballot in November

They had the word of Wallace himself that the fight would be carried to the Ohio Supreme court.

In an interview in New York, the third party presidential candidate said Ohio's Secretary of State Edward J. Hummel, to keep used "police state methods" to bar him from the ballot.

"We shall, of course, challenge the decision of Ohio Secretary of State Tdward J. Hummel, to keep the party off the November ballot in that state," Wallace said. Hummel, said Wallace, "has in effect commanded the people of Ohio to be good little Democrats or good little Republicans."

He said Hummel was acting "as a one-man prosecutor, jury and supreme court," denying "the right of tens of thousands to vote as free citizens in November."

Wallace said he would take the case to the Supreme Court of Ohio "to find out whether the United States of America, as we know it and believe in it, still exists."

Secretary of State Hummel ruled yesterday that Wallace's name should not be permitted on the November ballot.

Tours for Motorists To Begin

There's no need to journey to distant states to view magnificent scenery. Sunday's News-Journal will feature the first of a series of illustrated articles on tours for Mansfield area motorists. A trip to Mohican State forest is the highlight of tomorrow's story.

A tree mover is known to the trade as an "arborist." But tree moving has many similarities to dentistry, as you'll find out when you read tomorrow's News-Journal.

There are loads of other interesting features and pictures for your Sunday morning pleasure in the Sunday News-Journal.

Ministerial Student Sees Light

A young student of the ministry in California has cleared his conscience with the Ontario Community church.

Rev. R. W. McNary, pastor of the church, disclosed today that he has received a letter and one dollar from the young man.

The letter said: "I broke a light bulb at your church while I was attending Ontario school several years ago, and it's been on my conscience ever since. I don't suppose this will pay for the light, but it will clear my conscience."

New Flood Awaited By Northwest

Crest Will Top Previous Mark

PORTLAND, Ore.—(AP)—Warning of the highest Columbia river flood crest this year squashed sickeningly on the waterlogged Pacific northwest today

D-Day for the great river's new assault on soggy, crumbling dikes of the already devastated lower valley is Tuesday—exactly one week after the smashing impact of its most disastrous flood.

On that day, said veteran U. S. River Forecaster Elmer Fisher, the bloated Columbia will be 30.8 feet deep at Vancouver, Wash.—15.8 feet above flood level—and 30.5 feet across the river at Portland, Ore. That would top the old crest about six inches.

It may go even higher, Fisher said, but he can't see beyond Tuesday on the strength of information available now.

There is no way of knowing what new destruction may be added to the toll already taken by savage blows of the Columbia and Fraser rivers in the United States and Canada this spring:

1. Twenty-six dead. The city of Vanport, drowned by the blowout of a Columbia dike Memorial day, spewed its first bodies last night—both children torn by the boiling waters from the arms of their fleeing parents.

2. An estimated $140,000,000 damage in Oregon, Washington, Idaho and British Columbia. Fertile farms flooded, homes of almost 60,000 persons inundated or isolated, industries stopped, communications snarled, transportation crippled.

The first flood—down only inches from its peak—still hammers constantly at ever-softening dikes. The pounding will go on every minute, every hour until the new crest crashes down the Columbia's 1,200-miles to the Pacific—if the levees hold that long.

Now it is a battle against time. Build up the dikes. Plug up the holes. And pray.

No one knows if the barriers will hold until the next hour, until tomorrow, until next week.

The new fire engine, however, won't be there. Police have reported that it was completely wrecked en route to Bally from Waterloo, Ind.

City Gets First Rain In 14 Days

More Showers Due Tonight

Light showers spilled .13 of an inch of rain on the Mansfield area last night and early today, reviving farm and garden crops. It was the first rain here in 14 days.

More showers were forecast for this afternoon and tonight. Sunday is expected to be partly cloudy and cool.

The rain quickly soaked into the earth, and farmers and gardeners said more would be needed to end the dry spell which has threatened the crops.

The forecast said heavier rain probably will fall about the middle of next week, but fair and warmer weather will precede the showers.

FALL HEAVIER HERE

Mansfield got more rain today than most other Ohio cities. Only traces were reported in most sections of the state. The mercury zoomed to 86 degrees yesterday in Mansfield. The low last night was 58. The noon reading was 59.

Light showers and thunderstorms were sweeping most of the middle west today, breaking a 19-day drought—one of the longest spring dry spells in history.

At Chicago, the Northern Pacific railroad's monthly crop report said the record dry spell had ruined prospects for bumper crops in the mid-west, but "frequent and adequate" rains and cool weather in the next few weeks could produce better-than-average crops.

Minnesota authorities said the danger of forest fires had been decreased by the rain that fell in the state Friday.

AFL to Plan Celebration

Plans for the annual Labor day celebration in Mansfield will be made tonight by members of the American Federation of Labor following the anniversary program and dinner at the Sky club.

Floyd M. Myers, president and program chairman, said today that 175 reservations had been made for the dinner meeting at 7:15 p. m. Principal speaker will be Phillip Hannah, secretary of the Ohio State Federation of Labor.

Others who will talk briefly include Robert W. Levering of Mt. Vernon, Democratic candidate for representative from the 17th district; Major R. W. Hall, commander of the 321st Bombardment group of the Army Air Corps; Michael Lyden, president of the Ohio State Federation, and Msgr. R. C. Goebel of St. Peter's Catholic church.

Invocation will be given by Rev. Carveth P. Mitchell, pastor of the First Lutheran church. Group singing will be led by Major Hall.

Labor Peace Anticipated

WASHINGTON — (UP) — Federal Mediation Director Cyrus S. Ching said today prospects have brightened for a summer of industrial peace.

He said he was encouraged by John L. Lewis' agreement to resume soft coal wage talks Monday, by the new conferences also slated for Monday in the threatened atomic strike at Oak Ridge, Tenn., and by settlement of the long lines telephone dispute.

"There are more hopeful signs for industrial peace now than for some time," Ching told the United Press. "I think the way things look we ought to go into the summer months with comparatively widespread industrial peace."

Western Music Invades Temple

Correctional Institutions Crowded

Ohio Prisons Plan Expansion Surveys

LANCASTER — (AP) — Ohio's prison superintendents began looking today to the time they can expand their institutions to care for expanding penal populations.

State Welfare Director Charles Sherwood told them yesterday that they must immediately survey existing facilities and report their present and future needs.

This information, he said, will be compiled into proposed building to be presented for legislative approval at the next general assembly.

"If we are going to accept the responsibility of caring for persons who have offended society," Director Sherwood said, "we must be given the facilities and tools with which to work.

"We can't continue to crowd our prisons and correctional institutions and expect a program of rehabilitation which would help the inmates."

Overcrowding of adult prisons, said Sherwood, is the major post-war penal problem throughout the nation. In Ohio, he said, the population at Ohio penitentiary had grown from a war-time minimum of 3,200 to more than 4,000—and the trend still is upward.

Principal problems, he said, are the penitentiary, Mansfield reformatory, and the Marysville reformatory for women, all direct commitment institutions.

For nearly 20 years, the state welfare director explained, Ohio has done no extensive building of quarters for penal institutions, yet Ohio prisons now have 1,600 more adult prisoners than they had on V-E day.

Attending the conference were Acting Warden Ralph W. Alvis of Ohio penitentiary, Supt. W. F. Amrine of London Prison farm, Supt. Arthur L. Glattke of Mansfield reformatory, Supt. Harold E Hays of Boys Industrial school and Supt. Edna Byers of Girls' Industrial school

Colonel Hays was named president and Superintendent Byers secretary of the Ohio Penal and Correctional Superintendents association.

Violators Get Warning

Sheriff Cites Law Against Fireworks

Sheriff Frank E. Robinson said today his deputies will crack down on violators of the anti-fireworks law.

The sheriff reported that a number of complaints have been received of violations, especially in the Roseland area.

Latest report of a violation came last night when deputies answered a call on Herring avenue. They said they found an exploded six-inch aerial bomb in the middle of the street. The violators were not found.

A state law makes it unlawful to sell fireworks or ignite or explode fireworks.

Only exceptions to the law are toy guns which use paper caps and toy guns and toy canes containing 25 hundredths grains or less of explosive compound. These devices must be so constructed that the hand can not come in contact with the cap

Penalty for violation includes fines of $25 to $500.

Fireworks may be used at private or public exhibitions or other celebrations if permission is obtained from the sheriff or fire chief.

Milk Goes Up

CLEVELAND — (AP) Telling Belle Vernon company announced today a cent-a-quart increase in the price of milk, effective tomorrow.

Her Alarm Helps Police Capture Suspect

Woman Watches As Burglars Work

A woman watching from her front porch as burglars rifled a display case in the Clyde Adams Gun Shop, 534 Bowman street, caused the quick capture today of one suspect. A second, fleeing into the darkness, eluded pursuing police.

Three pistols were recovered. Four others were believed to have been carried away by the fleeing man.

The seven stolen pistols were valued at $338.

A John Long avenue man, on probation from Ohio penitentiary, was apprehended by police after a short pursuit. He was found lying along a fence at the rear of 564 Bowman street, less than a block from Adams store on the corner of Chester street.

One of the seven stolen guns was found 25 feet away and under a nearby tree police found a box of shells and a key that the suspect admitted was his.

Further search led to the recovery of two .38 caliber revolvers abandoned by the suspect as he ran from the store, with the police in pursuit. Four other weapons, including two .22 caliber pistols, one .25 caliber pistol and a .45 caliber automatic were not recovered. Police expressed belief they were in possession of the second burglar.

Three patrol cars sped to the scene at 1:40 a. m. in response to an alarm sounded by Mrs. Dorothea Kitzmuller, 543 Bowman street. She said she was seated on her porch waiting for a friend when she noticed someone walk around to the rear of Adams store and then heard the sound of breaking glass.

Shortly afterwards she saw someone in the store taking weapons from a case. She had no telephone in her own home, so she ran down the street, past the burglarized store, to the home of Paul Walrick, 508 Bowman street, who called police.

Patrolman Charles Condon, first to arrive, saw a man come out of the rear of the store Condon pursued him, but lost the fleeing man at the rear of 560 Bowman street. The suspect was discovered a few moments later.

Solitary Big Wave Rolls In

CLEVELAND — (UP) — Coast guardsmen searched the beaches west of Cleveland today for possible drowning victims after a huge 20-foot wave last night rose from a calm Lake Erie, wrecking small boats and littering the shoreline.

The single, explosive wave rolled in about 10:30 p. m. and was believed caused either by a sudden, high wind that sprang up in a calm night or by a convulsion of the lake created when high-temperature surface waters mixed with colder waters underneath.

The weather bureau said that yesterday's warm day, when the temperature hit a high of 87, caused a radical water temperature change, and might have set up the booming force.

The freak spectacle is called a seiche—an oscillation of the surface of a landlocked sea. In 1942 a similar, unexpected wave hit the beaches west of Cleveland and drowned seven persons over the Memorial day week end.

NO BODIES FOUND

A Coast Guard boat patrolled Lake Erie for several hours last night, but found no bodies. Coast Guard officials said the wave very easily could have swamped small boats and that the search was continuing. Two fishermen who were swept into the lake but were able to swim ashore reported that two other fishermen were swept away and disappeared, but the report could not be verified.

Miss Dolores Hill, 19, who almost lost her life when the wave hit the beach where she was sitting with her boy friend, gave an eye-witness description:

"The night was very calm, when we suddenly heard a faint roar," she said. "Seconds later my friend, Jack Corrigan, shouted 'Tidal wave' and I saw a wave at least 20 feet high. I was hit by a terrific force and driven back against the cliff.

"I was completely submerged, and choked and groped wildly. There was a terrific undertow, but I manager to grab something, I don't know what.

"Then I felt Jack grab me and I broke surface. The wave subsided quickly as it hit and we wallowed in water up to our waists while we looked for our belongings."

Bill Boosts Aid Benefits

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A multi-million dollar boost in social security payments to dependent children, the aged and the blind today needed only President Truman's signature to become law.

A bill adding $184,000,000 annually to the benefits received by 3,500,000 needy persons in those three categories was swiftly shouted through the House yesterday after the Senate had approved it by a lopsided 74 to 6 vote

The legislation would increase the federal social security contribution to the states by $5 a month for aged and blind, and $3 a month for dependent children.

A maximum of $50 a month would be set for each aged and blind person and $27 for a dependent child.

The boost was tacked onto a bill blocking the extension of social security insurance to an estimated 500,000 to 750,000 persons—chiefly salesmen over whom no employer exercises direct control.

The increased benefits amendment may prevent a veto for the bill. Mr. Truman has criticized Congress for what he said is a tendency to narrow social security coverage instead of expanding it.

Mural Given New Look

MEXICO CITY — (INS) — Artist Diego Rivera's controversial mural in Mexico City's swank Hotel Prado had a new look today.

The original painting contained the line "God does not exist" (Dios no existe).

Last night an agry group, described as students, stormed the Prado and with their knives scratched out the words "no existe."

BUS STRIKE LOOMS

SPRINGFIELD—(INS)—A city transportation tieup was threatened at Springfield today as bus drivers, mechanics and other workers unanimously voted to strike at 4 a. m. Monday. The 137 members of the union rejected an offered 12-cent-per-hour wage increase.

Reveals Tour Is Political

Ties Campaign To 'Abundance'

OMAHA — (AP) — President Truman arrived today in Omaha in the midst of a cross-country speaking campaign keyed to his championship of seven "goals of abundance."

He moved into Nebraska with his open appeal for November votes after four platform talks yesterday and a major speech in packed Chicago stadium last night.

Taken together, the speeches left no doubt the President's 8,500 mile, 18 state speaking tour is that of an out-in-the-open candidate.

His schedule here will include a second major, prepared address at 10 p. m. (EST) before the annual reunion of the 35th division with which he served in World War I.

One of his hosts is Edward McKim, Omaha insurance man, and one of his "buddies" in Battery D of the 129th Field Artillery. McKim served briefly at the White House in 1945 as chief administrative assistant to the President.

An automobile trip to Boys Town, near Omaha, was just one of a series of engagements.

OUTLINES GOALS

The "seven goals of abundance" outline last night in his Chicago speech before approximately 22,000 persons attending the Swedish Pioneer Centennial association meeting were: Laws providing adequate housing, health, expanded social security, "full rights of citizenship," universal free schooling, goods jobs at fair wages and "a brake on inflation."

Mr. Truman arrived in Omaha at 8:45 a. m. (EST). . . . He joined a parade of war veterans prior to a private noon luncheon at the Fontenelle hotel.

He will speak tonight primarily on his farm policy goals, although he likely will touch on his hopes for a draft and universal training.

Mrs. Truman and his daughter, Margaret, will join him in Omaha Sunday and continue with him through the Pacific Northwest and California.

The President last night made frequent attacks on the Republican-controlled Congress, telling the Chicago crowd that Congress could crush communism by providing a greater "abundance."

He did not mention the Nixon-Mundt bill by name, but he declared "you can prevent communism by better democracy."

"You can not stop the spread of of an idea by passing a law against it," he said

He drew his bow on Congress earlier in a railroad side address at Gary, Ind., when he accused it of serving the "men who have all of the money" instead of the "common people."

The President made an outright bid for November votes in his earlier Gary, Ind, speech. Saying the American economy must be "sound and solid" to support world peace, he declared:

"If you support me, we will probably get it."

Costly Fire Hits Duluth

DULUTH, Minn — (AP)— Fire swept through sections of two retail business blocks in the heart of Duluth early today causing damage estimated by police at "several million dollars."

A four-story retail furniture store and the nine-story Duluth Board of Trade building housing the grain exchange and grain commission offices, were swept by the blaze. Nearly a score of small retail stores burned.

The wind-fanned flames threatened the Northwestern Bell Telephone company's building, the Wolvin building housing the Duluth, Mesabi and Iron Range railway offices and those of the Oliver Mining company before it was brought under control.

Both long distance and local telephone services were disrupted. More than 150 Duluth firemen manned every available piece of Duluth fire appartus. Other apparatus came from nearby Superior, Wis. One fireman was slightly injured.

Interest In Summer Classes Growing

1,500 to Attend Daily Bible Schools

By NITA BRANSON
(N-J Church Editor)

More than 1,500 children are expected to be enrolled in the 17 Daily Vacation Bible schools of the city which start Monday at 9 a. m. A two-week course in Bible instruction, handicraft and music will be offered.

The schools this year will be under the direction of Mrs. Charles Ray, one of the two religious education teachers for the past several years in city schools. She will be assisted by Mrs. Mary James, project chairman. Both will work under the sponsorship of the steering committee of the Council of Religious Education of which Mrs. H. E. Neese is chairman.

Before school closed registration blanks were given to school children who wanted to enroll in the summer sessions. Mrs. Ray said more than 1,000 signed up.

"This is more than two-thirds of the entire enrollment we expect and is better even than last year," Mrs. Ray said.

"In the north end of the city there will be four vacation schools, each with record attendance," she asserted. "This is the first time we have had four in that section of the city. We first planned the usual two at St. Mark's Lutheran and the Mayflower churches. Then the First Brethren church said it wanted a school and finally Mt. Hermon Baptist church on Bowman street agreed to take over."

Preparation for the annual schools this year has included a workshop for instructors, something that had never been held before. This was held last week at the First Methodist church where talks were given by several of the supervisors. Miss Lucille Beattie, Mansfield teacher spoke on beginners' program; Mrs. Ray on primary; Mrs. James on junior and Mrs. S. B. Beauford on intermediate.

The general theme this year for beginners, primary and junior will be "Growing Up." Different phases of this subject will be studied by the different groups, each with study books and planned projects to help carry out the idea to the best advantage.

Each child who attends school one week will receive a certificate. Those with perfect attendance for the week will have gold seals placed on their certificate.

As last year, a closing program and exhibit will be held at the First Methodist church, Mrs. Ray said.

"That program proved so popular last year that I think we'll follow the same plan for our closing Friday this year," she said.

New University President Favors Political Training

DELAWARE —(U.P.)— Dr. Arthur S. Flemming, whose appointment to the presidency of Ohio Wesleyan university was confirmed officially Friday night, will take over his new duties Sept. 1. He will be one of the youngest presidents in the school's history.

Forty-three years old and the first layman to hold the post, he succeeds Dr. H. J. Burgstahler, who became chancellor of the university last June.

At Washington he said he was a believer in the teaching of "practical politics" as a means for assuring better government.

Dr. Flemming has been on the Ohio Wesleyan board for six years. He has spent 21 years in Washington in education and governmental work. A member of the civil service commission, he recently was appointed to a 12-man-commission headed by Herbert Hoover to study the reorganization of the executive branch of the government.

"They say I am the youngest man ever elected president of Ohio Wesleyan, but that isn't correct. It was James W. Bashford who was named in 1889 Nor was I the youngest man appointed to the civil service commission. That was Theodore Roosevelt," he said.

Dr. Flemming was married in 1934. The Flemmings have five children—Elizabeth Ann, 12; Susan Harriet, 9; Harry Sherwood, 7, and twin boys, Arthur and Thomas, 4.

WELL KNOWN ON CAPITOL HILL

Dr. Flemming is a Republican well known on Capitol Hill where he frequently presents civil service commission viewpoints before congressional committees.

As an advocate of the teaching of practical politics, he proposes "interneships" for students interested in entering government service. Under such a plan, the university would help students get summer vacation jobs in government—local, state and national.

"And they should get academic credit for some of their work in practical politics," he said.

Wesleyan faculty members can count on close contract with their new boss. When he became a civil service commissioner he instituted a series of staff conferences that still are going on.

Known as a capable public speaker, he gives part of the credit to Wesleyan because although a native of Kingston, N. Y., he enrolled here after he heard of the emphasis the school placed on public speaking and debate.

He traveled over the country as a member of the debating teams, served as college correspondent for the Delaware Gazette, worked on the college newspaper and was named permanent president of his class at the end of his senior year.

Recently, he completed a team as president of the board of directors for the Washington Federation of Churches—the second layman to hold the job.

Mastersingers to Offer Ohio-Born Singing Star

When the Mastersingers give their June concert here on the 21st and 22nd, they will present to a Mansfield audience for the first time, a top student in this year's graduating class of the Curtis Institute of Music, Philadelphia.

Marshall Heinbaugh, baritone, comes highly recommended, not only by Curtis officials but by other musicians of prominence.

Frank Guarrera, another topflight soloist from the Institute, originally was booked for the spring concert. When he was given a contract with the La-Scala Opera company of Milan, Italy, he has asked for release from his American engagements. Guarrera will be presented by the Mastersingers next year when he returns from the Milan engagement.

The presentation of Heinbaugh is the beginning of a contact with the Curtis school by the Mansfield Mastersingers which calls for the engagement of their best soloists.

MARSHALL HEINBAUGH

SERVED IN WAR

Heinbaugh, born and educated in Painesville, Ohio, was a premedical student at Hiram college when he was accepted by the Curtis Institute for study under Richard Bonelli.

His singing career was interrupted by the war, in which he served with the infantry. Upon his discharge, he returned to Curtis to study with Madame Eufemia Giavinni-Gregory. He was graduated this year with the bachelor of music degree.

Miss Marjorie Selby, young Senior high graduate, who has been accepted by the Curtis school, also will study with Madame Gregory.

Heinbaugh has done opera, oratorio and concert work in the east. His more popular opera roles have been in "Tosca," "La Boheme" and "Madame Butterfly."

The concerts here will be given at the John Simpson auditorium. The few remaining tickets may be obtained from members of the Mastersingers or at Tawse's pharmacy.

Mansfield News-Journal
AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER
PAGE FOUR MANSFIELD, OHIO. SATURDAY, JUNE 5, 1948

Drive carefully tomorrow—holidays are not the only dangerous times on the highways.

It is the census bureau that takes the highly controversial position that "a housewife is not a working woman."

Approach is being made to development of a silent alarm clock—in readiness for the time when the starting time of a day's work, is left to individual preference.

No 'Clean-Up Week' This Spring

FOR THE first time within reasonably long recollection Mansfield has had no "annual clean-up week" this spring—despite the obvious need for concentration of public interest on that important municipal activity.

Just why this has been overlooked, or sidestepped, has not been explained, but the probability is that everybody assumed that someone else would look after it—so nobody did.

Winter accumulation of rubbish in yards and alleys, together with odds and ends in cellars and attics, makes early spring a particularly appropriate time for a clean-up of premises, not only to improve appearance but also to lessen fire hazards.

In the absence of any fixed time for a city-wide clean-up—with customary collection of rubbish by city trucks—it seems to be up to individuals to decide on how much cleaning up they will do around their own premises . . . with hope that by another year this apparent oversight will be corrected.

One-Way Streets Expedite Traffic

WHETHER OR NOT Mansfield has attained sufficient size to designate certain streets as "one way" thoroughfares for motor traffic is debatable, but as a number of other cities have adopted this idea—with satisfactory results—it seems none too soon to look ahead to probable similar action here.

A drive through Ft. Wayne, Ind., with population approximating 150,000, provides an excellent example of advantages of one-way streets in expediting traffic and in reducing the danger of collisions, fender-scraping and the like.

Alternating streets are plainly marked "one way" and there is no appearance of inclination on the part of drivers to disregard the restriction—as is so frequently observed here in the so-called "one way" alleys.

What would appear to be a first need in Mansfield is stricter enforcement of present traffic regulations, with emphasis on the fact that "STOP" signs mean just that, and that the amber interval in the change of a traffic light from green to red is designed to signal "stop," instead of providing a few additional seconds to dash through an intersection or to turn a corner without regard for the safety of pedestrians.

Makeshift Housing May Be Fire Trap

THE HOUSING shortage has forced many people to move into temporary dwellings, where wiring, heating units and cooking equipment are frequently makeshift and unsafe. And that, in turn, has created a new and very grave menace to life from fire. As a tragic example, a woman recently left her small children in a temporary shelter while returning a borrowed utensil to a neighbor. She returned home to find the house in flames and the children dead.

The problem of reducing the fire hazard in substandard structures is two-fold. The first phase must be a constant vigilance on the part of the families living in them. Everything must be done to make electric and heating equipment as safe as possible—and it should be done by a qualified mechanic, not an amateur handyman.

Children should never be left without adult supervision. And some sort of approved fire extinguisher should be available for instant use.

Second, it is the duty of municipal authorities to constantly inspect dwellings, particularly those which are of a temporary nature, and enforce adequate safety codes.

Some Seasonal Health Suggestions

AWAITING resumption of activities in Mansfield's health department, a seasonal warning from the health department in another city seems equally applicable here.

With the approach of hot weather everyone is urged to fight flies, mosquitoes and other obnoxious bugs.

There are the added suggestions: "Keep screens in order. Leave no stagnant water in cans or sinkholes where mosquitoes can breed. Use sprays inside and on bushes and lawns outside."

Mental Illness Unsafe To Ignore

IN A MIDWESTERN city a man in a jealous rage killed his wife and two sons and then took his own life. Investigation of the circumstances revealed that the man had been a patient of a psychiatrist, who described him as "a dangerous paranoiac." The case, it would appear, should be listed in the police records as a preventable crime.

In most states a physician who treats a person suffering a gunshot wound, or other injury of a nature indicating the possibility of criminal violence, is required to report the case immediately to the police. It would seem just as proper to require a similar report from a psychiatrist who diagnoses a mental illness as dangerous.

A complication is that only a few communities and states are prepared to deal with dangerous mental illness in an adequate and sensible way. By remedying this shortcoming and making good use of the medical and psychiatric knowledge available, many tragedies of violence might be averted.

Australia Provides An Example

THE UNITED STATES does not always lead in new ideas. Not this country but Australia has organized the first flying library. Books are gathered by the University of Sydney, and sent to a doctor in an isolated part of New South Wales. The doctor is chosen as the distributor to his community because he already has been receiving what they call Flying Doctor service. This service, financed partly by private funds and partly by government aid, sends medical supplies to eight different stations. There is even a flying nurse if needed.

Bushman, the gorilla in the Chicago zoo, has just celebrated his 20th birthday anniversary—and is thus disqualified from voting this year.

Claude Callan suggests: "If mother will only raise a nice garden, father will proudly exhibit the nice vegetables and take credit for growing them."

House Blocks Taft Bills

By THOMAS L. STOKES

SENATOR TAFT did not plan it that way—to borrow an expression from the late Franklin D. Roosevelt—but the Ohio senator has been instrumental in getting his party into somewhat of a dilemma, innocently and guilelessly, and in a way that may help him personally.

It all has to do with the Republican social welfare program —housing, education and health measures—to which the party pledged itself in its 1944 platform and which it has promised since it got control of Congress in the 1946 elections.

Senator Taft is sponsoring these measures and has got all of them through the senate. But there is danger they may get lost in the House in the final rush before the recess of Congress less than three weeks hence—which would mean that they wouldn't be on the books to point to with pride in the platform of the forthcoming Philadelphia convention.

Furthermore, if they don't pass the House, and if there is not another session of this congress before it expires next January, all these measures will die with this Congress and will have to be started all over again in the next Congress.

Republican leaders do not seem anxious for congress to come back here after the conventions and sit in a campaign year, as that would give Democrats full opportunity to harass them from the widely publicized forum which is congress.

This situation, this Republican failure in performance, is now getting widespread public attention.

And for Senator Taft this means columns of publicity, free and unsolicited but nevertheless certainly welcome to him. Every time this situation is discussed, he is mentioned as sponsor of this social welfare legislation.

This does not hurt on the eve of a convention in which he is a candidate for the nomination. Others may profess to be "liberal"—to use a much-tortured word—but Senator Taft has the public record of accomplishment in the senate.

* * *

Credit Goes To Taft.

THIS "promotion" for Senator Taft, which does not require him to lift a finger or say a word or spend a dime, comes not only from various groups interested in the social welfare program, but also from Democrats.

The former want action. It is of no particular concern to them who gets something done, whether Republicans or Democrats, or which party gets the credit — though some among them prefer the Democratic social welfare program, which gives the federal government greater participation and control, rather than the Republican program in which emphasis is on the states.

For Democrats this situation offers the opportunity to use one Republican — Senator Taft—to whip the rest of the party. They are taking full advantage of it.

And none could be better for their purpose than the Ohio senator. He is generaly regarded as a rather staunch conservative.

This opens the way for Democrats to twit Republicans for not going as far as one of their most conservative leaders, to say that the party hasn't even caught up with Senator Taft, that the party is to the right of Senator Taft, and such.

Of the three leading candidates for the Republican nomination, Senator Taft has the only national record on a social welfare program. Governor Dewey of New York and Harold Stassen of Minnesota have had no opportunity, of course, though both are advocates of various social welfare measures and have records in their own states.

Senator Vandenberg of Michigan, now regarded as the most likely compromise in the event of a deadlock, is known chiefly for his management of international measures; while Speaker Martin, another compromise possibility, has helped to block the Taft program in the House.

50 YEARS AGO TODAY

Rev. D. J. Meese preached baccalaureate sermon to graduating class.

Congress In a Hurry

By JAMES MARLOW

CONGRESS is trying to finish in a rush by June 19, so it can go to the political conventions.

And when it tackles unimportant things, it act like it's going to a fire. The Senate on Wednesday rammed through 52 minor bills.

But on the big stuff it's still pretty slow going. Long debates. Jockeying around.

Maybe you wonder: If Congress is in such a hurry, why all the talk? Since Congress is made up of Democrats and Republicans, why can't each side let a couple of men talk for them and then go ahead and vote?

It's not so simple as that. That might work in some place like England where Parliament is sharply split between labor and conservative members.

There's no such sharp division between Democrats and Republicans. In both American parties there are "conservatives" and liberals."

True, on some issues the Democrats and Republicans close their ranks and vote pretty strictly along party lines.

But most of the time—on the big issues—plenty of members of both parties want to get up and speak their pieces. Why?

Because they think they can influence other members; or they want to be on the record for or against something; or they feel so strongly about an issue they have to talk.

As a result—party lines are crossed and on some things Republicans line up with Democrats, Democrats with Republicans.

* * *

What's the Difference?

BECAUSE of this endless crossing of party lines, people in other countries probably wonder sometimes what difference there really is between the two parties.

Russia's Joseph Stalin, for example, taking a dim view of what happens here anyway, once said he sees no difference between Democrats and Republicans.

Even the President can't always lead the members of his party in Congress along the road he wants them to take.

Although he's head of his party, its members may turn against him bitterly on a big issue.

That happened this year when President Truman urged Congress to pass a civil rights program that would have benefited Negroes mostly.

Among other things he asked Congress to pass laws against lynching and poll taxes.

In seven southern states a poll tax must be paid before a person can vote. And most lynchings have occurred in the South, with most of the victims Negroes.

The southern members of Mr. Truman's own Democratic party in Congress promptly jumped on him, their leader.

And squads of them are against letting him be nominated as their party's presidential candidate in the November elections.

(The Republicans hold their nominating convention in Philadelphia, starting June 21, and the Democrats hold theirs there in July).

Since that southern storm hit him, Mr. Truman hasn't said much about pushing his civil rights program through Congress.

When the big issues come up—like letting some of Europe's displaced persons in here—there's plenty of debate in congress.

Dave Boone Says:

THE SENATE has passed a bill authorizing another three-cent stamp—this one to honor the hen. There are one billion hens in America and, the senators feel, they have never been properly honored. Hence a chicken stamp, all white meat perhaps.

* * *

The idea is to honor the poultry industry, too. This opens the way to an even higher flood of new stamps. We may get the shad stamp to honor the shadroe industry, the goose-liver stamp to honor the goose indusry, and maybe a kippered herring stamp to recognize the kippered herring trade.

* * *

The post office folks used to be satisfied with few changes in stamps. A good one would last for years. Today they come out in new shapes, sizes, colors and styles every hour. So let's have the chicken three-center!

Summary of Week's Happenings

Demand Slackened By Excessive Prices

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

AMERICAN demand is slacking off some for new houses and cars. Time and rising prices may be the determining factors.

The number in the market for new homes has dropped 20 per cent from a year ago, a Federal Reserve Board survey shows. For new automobiles, the demand has dipped one per cent.

Nevertheless, there won't be enough homes or cars built this year to meet the demand.

The survey indicates that at least one out of every four families will overspend its income "heavily" this year.

The sampling, taken annually by the Board for the last three years, shows that in 1947 the general financial status of consumers developed the first signs of weakening. Many had to go into debt, cash in their government savings bonds or dip into savings.

The survey showed that in 1947 3,000,000 more families or individuals cashed the last of their war bonds. Of 17,000,000 persons buying furniture, refrigerators, radios, washing machines and other household appliances, more than [illegible] so on the installment plan.

On the other hand, consumer incomes as a whole rose more than 10 per cent last year.

Almost 50 per cent of the family groups or individuals polled reported higher salaries than in 1946 but because of higher living costs many felt that they were worse off at the year's end than at its start.

About 30 per cent had substantially the same money income in 1947 as in 1946. About 20 per cent experienced income declines.

Car Industry Booms.

The motor car industry once more is talking about production volume of 500,000 units a month. The big companies believe that the worst of their labor disputes have been disposed of for at least another year.

The half-million total may not be attained this month but there is better than an even chance it will be realized in July and possibly in August, too.

Production for May was about 334,000 cars and trucks. Strikes and some material shortages made it the poorest month since July, 1946. Ford, getting back into production after a major model change-over, turned out about 8,800 cars and 7,770 trucks last week.

Many large retailers, with more car orders on their books that they can fill in the next 18 months, are canvassing customers to determine whether they still want the new cars ordered a year ago.

Dealers for the most part are not accepting new orders now.

At Home

Floods In Northwest.

When nature goes on a rampage man still is an all but helpless victim.

Sometimes all defenses and precautions fail.

That was the case 59 years ago. A dam burst and a wall of water raged through Johnstown, Pa., killing between 2,000 and 3,000 and doing $12,000,000 in damage. A vain attempt was made to warn those in the path of the flood but the warning came too late for most to heed.

That was the case, too, this week at Vanport, Ore. One day before the 59th anniversary of the Johnstown flood, the Columbia river ripped through a weakened railroad embankment and wiped out Vanport, a warbuilt suburb of Portland.

Officials said it might take weeks before all victims were known. Many conceivably were swept out into the Pacific.

The Vanport disaster climaxed a week of flood destruction, the Pacific northwest's worst in more than half a century.

* * *

Urban vs. Rural Taxes.

A little over six months ago only three cities had local payroll taxes. Now in almost a chain reaction, the number has spurted to 19, a survey showed this week.

The Municipal Finance Officers Association says many more cities are studying closely this form of taxation. For one thing, the local income tax is designed to tap earnings of commuters who work in the city and live in the suburbs.

Toledo, Ohio, has had a one per cent income tax since 1946. It nets about $4,000,000 a year.

* * *

Natural Gas Pipeline.

The Federal Power Commission this week approved construction of a pipeline to carry natural gas from the Gulf coast to fuel-pinched New York and the Middle Atlantic states.

The 1,840-mile conduit, to be built by the Trans-Continental Gas Pipeline Co. of Longview, Tex., will cost between $151,000,000 and $180,000,000. Its completion is expected by the fall of 1950.

The project is the largest and most costly natural gas application ever brought before the commission. It is expected to benefit as many as 400 million utility customers in the East.

The pipeline will have a sales capacity of 325 million cubic feet of gas daily in summer and 340 million cubic feet in winter.

Abroad

Limited German State.

A six-nation conference in London agreed this week on plans to set up a limited state in western Germany next year and integrate its industrial potential into Europe's economic recovery program.

The agreement climaxes almost six weeks of daily negotiation by delegates of the United States, Britain, France and the Benelux countries (Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg). The parley recommendations must be ratified by each of the six governments.

The London parley also decided to set up an international control board to handle coal, coke and steel frm the Ruhr. The board will consist of representatives from western Germany and each of the six powers.

* * *

Atomic Defense.

Representatives of British cities heavily bombed in World War II will be called together next year to help the king's military experts chart a civilian defense program against the atom bomb.

The disclosure was made by Field Marshal Viscount Bernard L. Montgomery this week at the annual training conferences for top line empire army officers at the war office staff college in Camberley.

The chief of the British Imperial General Staff said the study will be the first coordination of civil defense with military technique in the atomic age.

* * *

Truce In Palestine.

Jewish and Arab acceptance of the United Nations proposal for a four-weeks truce brought prospects of an uneasy peace to the Holy Land.

American authorities, while pleased with truce acceptance, point out that it actually solves none of the basic issues. The Arabs still do not recognize existence of the new Jewish state. And Jewish extremists still are not reconciled with the concept of an Israel occupying only part rather than all of Palestine.

Two major problems confront the U.N as a result of the truce agreement. One is to make the truce completely effective and keep down incidents on both sides which might give rise to claims that the truce is being violated.

The other major issue is to find a basis for permanent settlement of the explosive Arab-Jewish differences, one enabling both Semitic races to live peacefully together.

Washington Calling

Robeson Speaks Freely

By MARQUIS CHILDS

THE CONTRAST between the two worlds could hardly be greater. It is the kind of heightened drama characteristic of our time.

The contract is sharper because it occurs within one family. The central figure is Paul Robeson, the Negro singer with the magnificent voice and the magnificent presence.

Robeson is a member of the executive committee for Henry Wallace. He came to Washington the other day to testify against the Mundt bill to control or outlaw communism.

He expressed himself freely in spite of heckling from members of the Senate judiciary committee. As he has done often in the past, Robeson charged repression, discrimination and a drive to establish a fascist state. He refused to say, in answer to repeated questions whether he was a member of the Communist party.

Traveling through the United States, he has made the same charges before large audiences. I saw him at a huge Wallace rally in Madison Square Garden, when 20,000 people cheeted his singing.

This crusade in politics comes for Robeson on top of a distinguished career. Who's Who in America lists several honorary degrees, including one from Columbia University. At his own college, Rutgers, he was Phi Beta Kappa; and Walter Camp rated him an all-American end. His record in the theater and on the concert stage is a long series of triumphs.

The other side of the drama occurred in that other world, Russia. The story told here came from an individual who was directly involved. I have confidence in the integrity of that individual and in the details of the story as he tells it.

Some years ago, one of Robeson's near relatives went to the Soviet Union to live. He renounced his U.S. citizenship to become a Soviet citizen. He believed that Soviet Russia, in abolishing racial barriers, had established a world of full equality in which justice and truth would certainly prevail.

* * *

Changed His Mind.

ABOUT two years ago, this man came to the American embassy in Moscow. He asked to see an official of the embassy whom he had previously met once or twice. Plainly in a state of great agitation, he asked if they could talk in some private room—not in the official's office, where he was afraid there would be listening devices.

They went to a room on the second floor of the embassy. There the former American told the official that he couldn't stand living in Russia any more. He was afraid for his life. He pleaded for help.

The official replied that unfortunately nothing could be done. Once an American citizen has renounced his citizenship, he loses all right of protection or asylum. The visitor, in a state bordering on open hysteria, left the embassy.

Standing at a second-floor window, the official saw plain-clothes secret police, stationed near the embassy, begin to follow the unhappy man. No American has ever seen or heard of him again and he is presumed to be either dead or in a labor camp.

Of course, there is discrimination in the United States—and repression, too. But Paul Robeson can denounce it. And men with lesser talents and smaller stature can speak their minds.

In that other world of Russia, no protest of any kind is possible. The answer to even a whispered protest is prison or death. What is so strange is that Robeson and others like him idealize that world.

While they protest loudly against the Mundt bill, they actually welcome it. It would help to prove the charges they bring against our system. They could become martyrs, they could go underground in the pattern of those whom they so blindly idealize.

This is not too hard to understand. A man of great intelligence and sensitivity profoundly resents discriminations based on the accident of birth. And for those who are not so intelligent, there are clever people to exploit a sense of injustice and frustration.

What is really hard to understand is why lawmakers of the type of Rep. Karl E. Mundt seem to want to hand the communists an issue. They invite demonstrations, marches and other forms of attention-getting behavior. And because there are many non-communists opposed to the Mundt bill, they create sympathy for the martyrs who are so eager for martyrdom.

Some Strange Fellows Had Jobs In Henry Wallace's Department

WASHINGTON—In a recent case in Washington, a government employe whose daughter had gone over to the communists as a worker in their news bureau was held up as a tragic example of that wicked personal scandal and humiliation which good men suffer at the hands of hot-eyed patrioteers. This sort of thing would deter many fine fellows from entering the service of the republic and a scornful reproach was strongly implied in the renewed expressions of confidence in the poor, suffering parent of an erring child when he was invited to stick it out, nevertheless, for Old Glory.

This wretched victim of the ingratitude of popular government is employed in the department of commerce.

He seems to have been blameless, but it is a pertinent fact that the same department of commerce freely gave the Soviet government copies of all the patents that it wanted, which meant all the patents that it considered useful for its purposes, at 10 cents a copy, later raised to 25 cents, postpaid.

It is the same department in which Henry Wallace planted his friend, Louis Horch, the New York speculator in silver, gold and foreign money, who was the financial backer or sucker for Nicholas Roerich, the god-man or guru.

During Wallace's time as secretary of the department of agriculture and later, when Roosevelt gave him a thing called the board of economic warfare with which to amuse himself and his strange friends, Henry provided two jobs for a nudist who held that ladies and gentlemen should go naked at their work in shop and office and even in elevators and subways in the rush hours.

This one wrote books which were so disgusting in text and pictures that he was pinched for trying to bring them into the United States from Europe in his baggage. If this were the only such creature who could be found in association with Henry or in the government under his patronage, that might be called an accident, but he wasn't.

Although he was not questionable on any such nasty grounds as this author of depraved books, Maurice Parmelee by name, Louis Horch certainly did flap around in clouds, for he confessed that he and the other members of the cult of Roerich in New York thought Roerich was a divine personality. There was another who trailed Wallace from agriculture to the board of economic warfare who was an intimate if not a member of the Roerich cult but was also a guru on his own hook in his spare time.

A guru in the oriental meaning of the word is a teacher or exalted spirit, but to this bunch of bureaucratic nuts, perverts, communists and simple fools it meant a priest of black magic.

There were several other queers whose peculiarities certainly were sexual, one of whom was quickly canned after Wallace got out of the B. E. W. and there was in operation a nudist glade on the outskirts of Washington, where a lot of bureaucrats disported themselves in such rites as are practiced in such places.

Apologists and propagandists for Henry Wallace have insisted that he is a "mystic." Uh-huh. Well, anyway, he certainly selected some strange company by deliberate choice and some of this company were the kind of people that a New York cop would call by shorter and uglier names.

Mansfielder Gets Bronze Star for Heroism In War

Walter L. Maxwell, 438 South Main street, was awarded the Army Bronze Star medal Friday afternoon for service as a sergeant during the war beyond the call of duty.

At private ceremonies in the Mansfield Recruiting office on North Mulberry street, Maj. Samuel L. Buck, executive officer of 2316th Army Service Unit, Fort Hayes, Columbus, presented the citation to Maxwell in the presence of the area recruiting station personnel.

Maj. Buck cited the two separate occasions during the period of Jan. 10 to 20, 1945, when Maxwell, then a sergeant, was directly responsible for the deaths of 20 Germans.

On the first occasion, when the Germans were attacking, and then when Maxwell was on patrol, he bravely directed the enemy's fire on himself to protect his comrades, the major said.

Maxwell is the owner and operator of Sam's Service Station, 291 South Diamond street.

GALION — Former Governor Frank J. Lausche will "kick off" his central Ohio campaign for the governorship at a dinner in Crawford county early in September.

The Democratic candidate accepted yesterday an invitation from James Kehrer, Bucyrus, president of the Young Democrats club of Crawford county, to attend a "kick-off" dinner here.

Kehrer said today the date for the dinner, to be held in Bucyrus, had not been set.

Lausche was a luncheon guest at Hotel Talbott Friday of Crawford county Democrats and friends. He came here after he and Robert L. Moulton, Galion attorney who managed Lausche's primary campaign for the party nomination, met President Truman in Crestline during the brief stop of the presidential special.

Moulton said Lausche's appearance would be the signal for the start of a vigorous Democratic campaign in Crawford county.

Scanlon, Crawford county prosecutor; Mae Kloepfer, county treasurer; Oliver Hartman, recorder; Walter Sargel, county commissioner; Frederick Klein, county auditor; L. F. Waldbauer; Ermina Heckert, president of the Crawford county Democratic Women's club; Attorneys John Berger and Kenneth Petri, Mr. and Mrs. Forest Sheerer, Mr. and Mrs. Cofoid High, Frank E. 100 Attend P-TA Instruction School

One hundred members of the P-TA groups in the Mansfield area met at St. John's church last night for the second annual School of Instruction and installation of officers of the P-TA council and units.

The school began with a session at 2 p. m., at which 60 were registered. They remained for the dinner meeting and were joined by scores of others for the question and answer forum in the evening.

Here for the sessions were Mrs. Russell C. Bickel, first vice president of the Ohio Congress of Parents and Teachers; Mrs. Earl Camper, director of the North Central district, and Mrs. I. W. Basinger of Mansfield, a member of the advisory board.

Three topics discussed were parent-teacher procedure, publications and publicity, and membership responsibilities.

Mrs. Joseph Bradley, publicity chairman, said today that it was suggested programs for the various meetings be planned in the spring and committees appointed so that they might attend the annual School of Instruction. These two points were emphasized by the state officials so that better programs might be arranged ahead of time and desired speakers obtained, Mrs. Bradley said.

It was decided to set up a publications and literature shelf at the Mansfield public library where P-TA units can get necessary information on precedure and programs.

In the discussion on membership, it was brought out that the little blue cards, to be carried by all P-TA members, are a "must." Heretofore, those cards have been sent home by the school children. It was suggested that more interest would develop if membership chairmen distributed the cards to the parents and in that way could explain many P-TA responsibilities.

Among the officers installed were Mrs. Paul Olds as new secretary of the council and F. F. Smith, who succeeded to the post of council treasurer during the middle of this past season and was re-elected for another term.

Mrs. E. G. Pankow, president of the P-TA council, sponsoring group for the school, presided at all sessions yesterday and introduced state officers.

Temporary Quarters Rented At Airport

Mansfield's 164th Fighter Squadron, Air National Guard, will establish temporary headquarters in Hangar No. 7 until permanent quarters can be constructed this fall. Arrangements were made to lease a major portion of the hangar at a meeting yesterday in city hall.

During the meeting, Gen. Cooper also accepted the deed for 25.8 acres of land proffered by the city for construction of the new airbase at the port.

An agreement was reached on the use of federal funds to maintain runways used by the air guard unit.

Gen. Cooper asserted that through the cooperation of Maj. Gen. Kenneth F. Cramer, chief of the National Guard Bureau in Washington, it was possible to cut through governmental red tape and complete arrangements in three hours yesterday that normally would have consumed 60 to 90 days of negotiation.

Battin Dancers Score Hit With Crowd of 800 At Revue

Dancing pupils of Mrs. Ethyl Battin last night scored a hit with a crowd of approximately 800 in a recital in Senior High school auditorium.

Ranging in age from three to 20, the students were attired in unusual costumes representing flowers for Mrs. Battin's original production, "Floral Festival."

Although there were many other numbers which pleased the crowd, three-year-old Diana Sue Beam of Johnsville, received several rounds of spontaneous applause with her offering, "Im Just a Little Petunia in an Onion Patch."

Representing the onions were five other tiny dancers—Diana Smith, Sally Kann, Karen Beal, Sharon Radler, and Polly Martin.

The action takes place in the kingdom of "Bouquet," where the beautiful "Fleurette," Jeroma Gentile, lives with a gardener and his wife, John E. White and Charlotte Calene.

Fleurette, who is really a princess, had the magical power to create floral growth wherever she walked.

Ann Bayer, a nurse at the Veteran's Administration here, now attending a nurses' convention in Chicago, flew to this city last night in time to see her niece, Peggy Bayer, perform in the grand finale, "Floral Festival Ballet."

Mrs. Battin, producer, director and costume designer for the show and instructor of the performers, appeared in several numbers. She is a former member of the Radio City Rockettes. Harold McCuen was narrator of the production.

Tickets still are available at the Senior high school auditorium box office for tonight's performance.

Bromfield Host to Leaders

Three Score At Malabar

More than three score of Ohio's top industrial executives, conservationists and agricultural experts gathered today at Author Louis Bromfield's Malabar farm to lay plans for a Second Frontier program to be held Sept. 23 and 24 on the farm of Rio Grande college in Gallia county.

The men are members of the Ohio Valley Second Frontier advisory board, of which Bromfield is general chairman. The program they are planning will be a duplication, on larger and more impressive scale, of the first Second Frontier held last fall at Brownsville, near Hebron.

Ohio's Second Frontier programs are designed primarily to demonstrate modern practices of soil conservation. They are conducted under general sponsorship of the Ohio Soil Conservation service with the cooperation of other agricultural organizations, state agencies and business and industry.

At Brownsville two farms, depleted by years of incorrect farming methods until they were virtually sub-marginal land, were converted in one day into rich acres. Persons who have visited the farms recently describe them as "picture places," which have undergone an amazing change for the better as a result of the Second Frontier day.

Army Gives New Chance To Disabled Air Hero

A Mansfield disabled veteran of World War II has acquired a new lease on life by reenlisting in the U. S. Army Air Force.

M Sgt. Charles W. Bates, 396 Fairlawn avenue, found good reason for accepting the U. S. Army's new enlistment program for disabled veterans. He is the first Mansfield veteran to take advantage of benefits offered under U. S. Army Circular No. 6:

M/SGT. CHARLES W. BATES

Bates, a native Mansfielder, had been unable to obtain insurance and hospitalization, due to his disability. This left him without assurance for provision for his wife and two sons in the event of hospitalization.

Bates served as a lieutenant in the Air Force during World War II. He was wounded in the head, right leg and arm when a plane he was piloting over Holland was struck by anti-aircraft flak.

LEAPS FROM 250 FEET

Despite his injuries, he managed to reach the bomb-bay doors and jump from the plane when only 250 feet from the ground. As he jumped the plane exploded and his opening parachute caught fire. He plummeted toward the ground, then 50 feet below.

Both legs were broken when he landed in a flooded field from where he was spirited away by the alert Dutch underground.

"A Dutch underground doctor placed both my legs in splints and for the following two months I was moved from one home to another to prevent capture by the Gestapo," Bates recalled. "First I was hidden in a nuns' convent and then in many underground homes until liberated by Çanadian troops at the end of the war."

HONORED AT DINNER

Thursday night a dinner was given in Bates's honor at the Richland Recreation center. Officers and personnel of the Mansfield Recruiting station, friends and civic leaders congratulated him on his enlistment and newly-found security.

Under the Army's new program for the enlistment and assignment of partially disabled combat veterans of World War II, Bates has been assigned to recruiting service in Mansfield for the next four years.

"Now I have a guarantee of security for my family and I'll be able to retire in 15 years when I reach the age of 41." Bates says smiling.

"Under this program former reserve officers in World War II will receive the rank of master sargeant, non-commissioned officers the same rank they had at discharge, and is a re-enlistee was discharged as a private he will be given the rank of private first class," Bates explained.

"With all things taken under consideration, I don't know of a better future for disabled veterans than the one the Army Circular 6 offers."

Youth, 15, Missing

Mrs. Martha Tschappat, 370 Cline avenue, told police yesterday her 15-year-old son, Jerry, has been missing from home since June 2. He was last seen when he left for school to get his grade card, she said.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

NEW YORK—(UP)—Fearless Fraley's facts and figures:

Everybody wants to know what's the matter with the Boston Red Sox, those pre-season American league favorites now languishing in the second division, but you can't get an answer out of Manager Bucky Harris of the New York Yankees.

I have enough to do, worrying about one club, the Yanks," quoth Bucky, who is satisfied to let sleeping dogs lie . . . Did you say dogs? . . .

MIDGET AUTOMOBILE racing gets under way at the Polo grounds tonight and one of the characters wheeling into action is Dee Toran, a Mexican motor maniac. Bill Schindler, one of the top doodlebug drivers, claims that "you don't have to be crazy to be a midget driver—but it helps."

Toran bears out that succinct statement.

Dee broke both legs in his first race, in 1926. Later he rolled over three times, landed right side up and kept on going to finish in the money. Another time his car landed on top of him and a doctor pronounced him dead. Dee revived a short time later and since has been racing as merrily as ever . . . See what Schindler means? . . .

SOME PEOPLE object to calling athletes "heroes" but you don't go wrong when you pin that tag on Cleveland Pitcher Gene Bearden. As a machinist's mate aboard the cruiser Helena he was in the engine room when a pair of Jap torpedoes struck and killed more than a third of the 600 crew members. Despite a crushed knee and a skull split open by flying fragments, Bearden survived two days in an open raft.

Innumerable operations and two aluminum plates later, Gene is one of baseball's "heroes" of the diamond in 1948 . . . That's for sure.

THE NEXT TIME you hear somebody use the expression "that ain't hay!" inferring that hay is easy to come by, put in a correction. Thoroughbred feed specialists can't get enough.

"We have a man on the road all the time looking for hay and we can use all he can find," explained feed merchant George Haubitzer. "The best hay comes from Michigan, Ohio, Indiana and Wisconsin. But most farmers just won't produce it anymore."

As if times at the trough aren't tough enough, some horses even eat their bedding if it's made of rice or wheat straw. These are bedded down in wood shavings or peat moss . . . This they don't eat, experts say, but I know most of my selections are full of sawdust . . .

TALKING ABOUT the best and the toughest, Pine Valley, N. J., is right up there among the difficult golf courses. Par 70 has only been equalled once by an amateur. And in 1,000 rounds of pro play, par has been busted only twice—Ed Dudley with a 68 and Craig Wood with a 69. Which caused Charley Yates to go Joyce Kilmer's "Trees" one better with this paraphrase:

"I think that I shall never see
"A golf course tough as Pine Vall-eee.
"With trees and sand traps everywhere
"And divots flying through the air;
"A course laid out for fools like me,
"Where only God can make a three."

Jim Demaret Tops Albuquerque Field

ALBUQUERQUE, K. M.—(UP)—Jimmy Demaret of Ojai, Cal., today topped a field of 60 qualifiers who started the last two days of play in the $10,000 Albuquerque open golf tournament.

Demaret held a slim one-stroke lead with cards of 65-69—134 over Clayton Heafner of Charlotte, N. C., with 67-68—135. Marty Furgol of Utica, N. Y., put together a 69-68—137 for third.

Tops Activities

CLEVELAND—(INS)—A $500 challenge match race between midwestern Champ Ralph Pratt and Eddie Haddad of Los Angeles highlights midget auto racing activities tomorrow night at suburban Bedford's Sportsman's park.

Indians Hold Slim Margin In American

PHILADELPHIA—(INS) Breaks often decide the ball game, but the Cleveland Indians needed no breaks last night in Washington.

That's why the Tribe moved into Philadelphia today still holding its slim first-place margin for a "crucial" four-game series with the surprising A's.

The Indians and Nats battled it out on even grounds for 14 innings last night before the Cleveland club exploded for five runs in the top half of the 15th to give Bob Muncrief a well-deserved victory.

GREAT PITCHING

Starter Bob Feller, again at his best, and little Mickey Haefner hooked up in a scoreless pitching duel for 11 innings, Feller giving up but four hits and Haefner but five.

Both left for pinch-hitters in the 12th and Muncrief came on to hold the Nats hitless in his four-inning stint. Tom Ferrick held the Tribe in check until the 15th when Cleveland's long pent-up power finally burst forth.

In that frame, Muncrief and big Ed Robinson started things off by walking. Hal Peck, in attempting to sacrifice, forced Muncrief at third, but Dale Mitchell singled home Robinson with the first run.

Manager Lou Boudreau followed with a single, driving home Peck, and scored himself a moment later on Joe Gordon's ringing triple. Ken Keltner singled to right to send Gordon scampering across the plate and Wally Judnich drove in Keltner with the second triple of the inning.

NONE TO THIRD

Feller didn't allow a man to reach third in his 11 innings on the mound and once more proved he is far from washed up.

Cleveland got the bases loaded in the fifth off Haefner, but the little left-hander pitched himself out of trouble then and never was in danger again.

Boudreau was to send Lefty Gene Bearden to the mound today against the A's, while the venerable Connie Mack named Lou Brissie as his likely starter.

Bob Lemon, Cleveland ace, and Don Black are slated to hurl for the Tribe in tomorrow's twin bill.

My Babu Rates As Choice In 169th Derby

LONDON—(UP)—The historic Derby at Epsom Downs came up for its 169th running today with My Babu the 4 to 1 favorite and two American horses rated as outsiders in the field of 33 three-year-olders.

The number of starters in the mile-and-a-half classic was the greatest since 1922 when Captain Cuttle defeated 29 rivals. Besides the pair from the United States, 27 were from Great Britain and four from France.

My Babu, recent winner of the Newmarket mile owned by the fabulously rich Gackwar of Baroda, has been consistently listed as the favorite. As second choice at 8 to 1 the bookmakers picked The Cobbler, who finished second by a head to My Babu in the Newmarket race.

The Cobbler, owned by Lt. Col. Giles, was to be ridden by Gordon Richards, the world's leading jockey. Djeddah, owned by Marcel Boussac, was third choice at 10 to 1.

Both American horses were owned by William Woodward, master of Belair stud, and their chances were viewed as improved because the track was expected to be soft. They were Black Tarquin, sixth choice at 100 to 7, and Senator II, one of the outside choices at 66 to 1.

Panama Star Breaks Mark

COMPTON, Calif.—(AP)—Panama's lanky Lloyd la Beach bettered the 220-meter world mark and tied the 220-yard and 100-meter records in a brilliant flash of speed at Compton's ninth annual invitational track and field meet last night.

He first ran the 100 meters in 10.2 seconds, equalling the world mark shared by Jesse Owens of Ohio State and Hal Davis of California.

He ran the 200 meters in 20.2 seconds, bettering the world mark of 20.3 set by Owens in 1935 and he was clocked at the longer 220-yard distance in 20.3 which ties Owens' mark.

Three Teams Top Track, Field List

DELAWARE—(INS)—Baldwin-Wallace, Miami and Bowling Green universities were favorites today in the fifth annual all-Ohio collegiate track meet at Delaware.

B-W, paced by hustlin' Harrison Dillard, already holds the Ohio conference championship. Miami is the mid-American conference title holder. Bowling Green although a member of neither conference, is undefeated in dual competition.

Adams Resigns

KENT—(INS)—Harry Adams, head basketball coach and football end coach at Kent State university, resigned suddenly today to take a private position.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

BATTING—Johnny Lindell, Yankees—broke a 4-4 tie and sent the Yankees on to victory over Detroit with a home run. He also had a triple and single in four times at bat.

PITCHING—Bobby Feller and Bob Muncrief, Indians—combined to pitch a 15-inning four-hit shutout against the Washington Senators. Feller allowed four hits in first 11 innings, Muncrief none in last four.

Ohio Staters Win, 7 to 3

MADISON, Wis.—(INS)—Pete Perini of Ohio State ranked as the Big Nine's top hurler today following a 7-to-3 Buck defeat of Wisconsin yesterday.

The triumph was Perini's sixth against one loss this year in conference play. Art Dole of Michigan and Marv Rothblatt of Illinois have 5-1 records.

Perini gave up three hits including a home run by Chuck Lowe, Badger shortstop, in the first. The only other hit he allowed was a four-bagger by Rightfielder Bruce Elliott in the fourth.

Norb Ranz homered for the Bucks in the third. Ohio had 11 hits.

The two teams meet again today with Ohio State seeking to clinch third place in the conference standings.

Olympic Trials Listed July 9-10

CHICAGO—(UP)—Final track and field trials for the American Olympic squad will be held July 9-10 at Dyche stadium, Evanston, Ill., Olympic officials said today.

Finals for the 10,000 meter run were moved to the National Amateur Athletic union meet at Milwaukee July 2-3. The switch was made so several athletes, including Don Lash, would be able to compete in both the 10,000 and 5,000 meter events.

Gorman-Rupp Wins Sixth Game, 2 to 1

Although held to three hits, the Gorman-Rupp softball team won its sixth game in seven starts last night, defeating Orrville Bronze Highlanders, 2 to 1, under the G-R floodlights.

Dale McKinley, on the mound for Mansfield, gave up nine hits but was stingy in the pinches as he chalked up his third victory against one loss.

Gorman-Rupp used only one of its three hits in tallying the two winning runs in the bottom half of the fourth inning. Al Baki beat out a bunt to open the inning and was sacrificed to second by Kenny Windsor. Pete Campbell grounded to short but all hands were safe when Jack Buttermore attempted to pick Baki off second base. Two wild pitches let in one run and Manager Nick Weber hoisted a long fly to drive in the other.

Orrville came back with a run in the top of the fifth but the rally was cut short when Bud McKee made a beautiful one-handed catch of Rodney Graber's drive to left-center field to end the inning. The run had scored on a walk and two consecutive singles by Buttermore and Don Denlow.

Several other sparkling defensive plays were turned in during the game. Two of them came in the second inning when Shortstop Buttermore snared Weber's line drive and Walter McKee made a bare-handed catch of Tick Hamilton's long smash to left.

Feller, Tribe's Fifth Best, Back In Form

By CARL LUNDQUIST

NEW YORK—(UP)—It says here in very small print that Bob Feller is the fifth best pitcher on the Cleveland Indian staff, but just try and sell that idea around the American league towns.

It also says the [illegible] the 15-inning ball game the Indians took 5 to 0 from the Senators at Washington last night and that his record right now is a very ordinary five victories against four losses.

But that's only the way it is according to the book. They reveal that Gene Bearden at 4-1, Bob Lemon at 7-3, Don Black at 2-0, and even Bob Muncrief at 2-1, stand a little better, but that's only part of the story.

The plain facts make it look a little better for Bullet Bob. He was burning them in there with his usual verve last night and it was 0 to 0 in the 12th when he went out for a pinch-hitter after yielding but four hits. During that stretch he struck out five.

The Red Sox made some progress at the expense of the St. Louis Browns, topping them 10 to 4 and 7 to [illegible] at Boston for their first double victory since last Labor day. [illegible] his sixth [illegible] Mickey Platt [illegible] homers [illegible] Browns' [illegible] losing cause.

The Yankees [illegible] over the Tigers at New York, 7 to 4 by rallying late to nullify a three-run homer by Pinch-hitter Dick Wakefield. New York clinched the game on a two-run single by Pinch-hitter Bud Souchok in the eighth after Johnny Lindell hit a homer to put the Yankees ahead in the seventh.

The Athletics defeated the White Sox, 4 to 3 at Philadelphia with a three-run rally in the seventh in which doubles by Barney McCosky, Don White, and Mike Guerra were the decisive blows.

The Dodgers got their first shut-out of the season, topping the Cardinals 1 to 0 at St. Louis as Ralph Branca topped Howie Pollet in a fine duel. Branca gave up nine hits and gained his winning margin when Don Lund singled in the third and went to third on an error by Pollet. He scored on an outfield fly. It was Branca's fifth win.

The Braves put over seven runs in the seventh to top the Pirates, 10 to 7 at Pittsburgh. Tommy Holmes tied the score with a two run double and Jim Russell hit a home run with two aboard to clinch it.

The Giants outlasted the Reds 5 to 4 at Cincinnati despite two homers by Hank Sauer which made him the exclusive major league leader with 16.

The Phils scored a 7 to 2 triumph over the Cubs at Chicago as Dick Sisler and Del Ennis hit homers and Richie Ashburn got a pair of singles to stretch his consecutive batting streak to 21 games. Walt Dubiel won his eighth game although he yielded a homer to Andy Pafko.

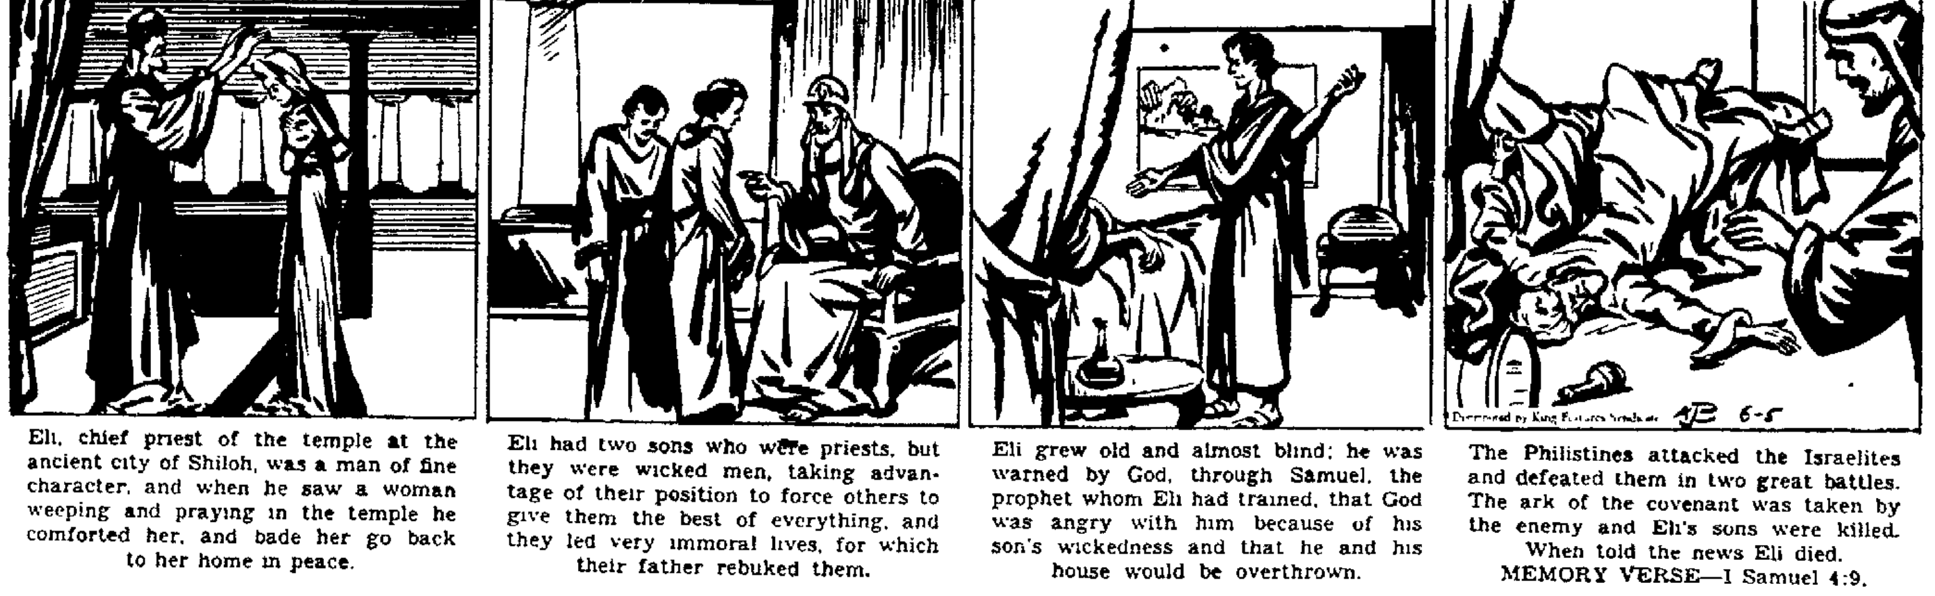
Scripture—I Samuel 1-4.



Distributed by King Features Syndicate AJB 6-5

Eli, chief priest of the temple at the ancient city of Shiloh, was a man of fine character, and when he saw a woman weeping and praying in the temple he comforted her, and bade her go back to her home in peace.

Eli had two sons who were priests, but they were wicked men, taking advantage of their position to force others to give them the best of everything, and they led very immoral lives, for which their father rebuked them.

Eli grew old and almost blind; he was warned by God, through Samuel, the prophet whom Eli had trained, that God was angry with him because of his son's wickedness and that he and his house would be overthrown.

The Philistines attacked the Israelites and defeated them in two great battles. The ark of the covenant was taken by the enemy and Eli's sons were killed. When told the news Eli died.

MEMORY VERSE—I Samuel 4:9.
